Mill Neck's Sweet Fashion Show Arriving Next Weekend

The “Sweet Fashion Show,” hosted by Mill Neck Family of Organizations and the Mill Neck Manor Alumni Association, is taking place Sunday, May 6 at the historic Mill Neck Manor House. Once again, the latest spring fashions from the renowned Brooks Brothers’ line will be modeled by Mill Neck’s own students, parents and staff. The Manor’s dramatic, double staircase will serve as the models’ runway, and chic boutiques and one-of-kind jewelry will be featured on the first floor as well. Guests will enjoy tastings from a selection of mini quiches, fruits, cheeses and delectable desserts and have the opportunity to partake in stylish raffle prizes and a special dessert auction. In addition to Brooks Brothers, the Mill Neck Family is extremely grateful to the following sponsors: The Leader of Locust Valley, advertising sponsor; Salon Luna of Bellmore for providing hair and make-up styling; the DiBartolo Family; the Slattery Family and our food tasting sponsors to date: Cardinale Bakery of Carle Place; Curds & Whey in Locust Valley; Elegant Affairs in Glen Cove; Oyster Bay’s Gooseberry Grove; Hampton Coffee Co.; King Kullen Supermarket; Kitchen Kabaret in Roslyn Heights; Leonetti Pastry Shop in Greenvale; Loafers Bakery in Locust Valley, Locust Valley Market; Maria’s Pastry Shop in Westbury; Meridian in Locust Valley; North Shore Farms, Glen Cove; Old Fashioned Bakery in Glen Cove; Sweet Tomato of Oyster Bay and Glen Cove; The Greenport Tea Co and Wonderful Wedding Cakes in Glen Cove. Author and Master Chocolatier, Lee Perrotta of The Chocolate Lady in Oyster Bay, will also be present from 1:30 – 2:30 pm for a chocolate demo and book signing of her newest book, Tempering Your Way Through With The Chocolate Lady.

Proceeds from the “Sweet Fashion Show” will benefit the Mill Neck Family of Organizations, which includes Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf, Mill Neck Manor Early Childhood Center and Mill Neck Services for Deaf Adults.
