Mill Neck Students Compete at Academic Bowl Regional

Four students from Mill Neck Manor School for the Deaf recently competed in the Academic Bowl Regional competition held at The Learning Center for the Deaf in Massachusetts, where they faced off against other high school students in a series of quiz tournaments. According to science teacher Gabrielle Barry, one of the Mill Neck team's coaches, "We did really well! The kids won 2 out of our 6 matches. We lost to both the first and second place regional teams, so we had good company and a lot of challenges. The students who attended really worked hard and it showed!" Established in 1997, the Academic Bowl is sponsored by Gallaudet University, an internationally recognized leader in liberal education and career development for Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing students.
